

BC Shop Migration of Audatex Estimating

You are receiving this notification because ICBC has been providing you with data updates for Audatex Estimating (ADXE). Moving forward, the process has changed. Audatex Canada will now assume responsibility for the software and data updates -- ensuring you can continue to service your valued insurance partners.

You have one of two options on how to use ADXE going forward:

- Online – since 2004, Audatex has delivered an online solution to the vast majority of Canadian shops. BC shops now have the option of moving online for their estimating needs with the added benefit of no monthly software maintenance. To access the latest software and data, web users only need to logon to our website.
- Offline – this is how the current version of ADXE works for BC shops. Audatex Canada will provide instructions on how to download the latest version of ADXE along with the monthly data. There will be no further delivery of USB drives for data or software updates. All data and software will be delivered through an internet connection.

Please select one of the options above prior to March 31st 2018 in order to maintain ADXE services without interruption.

Visit www.audatex.ca/bc-shops for the next steps required to continue using ADXE.

Thank you for using Audatex Estimating,

Audatex Canada
